"I have so much to be grateful for, especially this year. I had a very hard year and almost died. I spent a long time in a hospital getting special care and surgery. It was scary at first. I just wanted to come back to my home. And that is when it hit me just how amazing that feeling was. I actually have a home for the first time in my life. And when I thought I might not get to come back there, I realized just how far I had come in my life. I am forever grateful to all the humans who have helped me. When I first came to my home here I couldn't even walk. I had given up from despair and the pain in my legs. But the people here took me and my friend Gilligan in and took one look at me and sprang into action to help. Within a few weeks I was walking again. I never thought I'd see that day. My body is back to normal. My life is finally wonderful. And I am very grateful to be back to feeling healthy again too. I am grateful to all the humans who have helped me through so many things and for not giving up on me!"
